

Short Hair Styles Are Not For The Timid

It takes courage for every woman that goes in for a short hair style after having long hair. Every woman also knows that a short hair style speaks to having a sense of style and class. Getting a short hair style can say that she has made a subtle change within her being. That only applies if she has always worn her hair long. If she has always worn it short then no inner change can be attributed to her new short hair style.

Women are rushed for time more and more as they work outside the home. A short hair style fills the ticket for buying more time for her. Short hair takes much less care than long hair. It can be washed and styled in a few minutes instead of the longer time it takes to style long hair. Washing, blow drying and styling takes more effort with long hair. If a woman is lucky enough to have curly hair, short hair can be styled with a quick scrunching of the fingertip and a few shots of hair spray in just the right places to finish off the task. More maintenance is needed for short hair style. That is because women must go in to the salon to get more frequent cuts to keep up the style. To keep your short hair style trimmed and fresh, go see your stylist every four to six weeks.

For the woman just getting a short hair style, picking which style she wants can be a daunting task. A really good tip is to ask your stylist for a suggestion on what cut would look good on you. Your stylist will know the shape of your face and hair texture. If you do not like her suggestion, you can always look thru the short hair cut books or magazines and chose one from there. Going online and finding a good hair style Website to upload your photo is another option to try on different styles. So go ahead and take the plunge into getting a new short hair style. You can always let it grow back out if you do not like it. Take pride in your bravery and doing something new with your hair.
