

Baby pillows as personalized gifts

Baby showers were meant for the purpose of accumulating a good amount of baby essentials. Almost every other invitee rushes to the baby department of the many stores to buy blankets or baby care products for the baby. How does one stand out and yet give a practical gift? How about a personalized baby pillow ... original, different and yet, usable. Personalizing a baby pillow is one of the easiest tasks on hand. Summon all the style and creativity you possess, add a unique baby design, throw in comfortable looking hues and personalize it keeping in mind the baby you are gifting it to. Simple colour coordinations like pink baby pillow for the girl baby and blue baby pillow for the boy baby is universal. However, if you are one of the gifted artsy kinds, give free reign to your colour palette and make the baby pillow as bright as bright can be. As the baby pillow is meant as a gift for the baby, one can indulge in numerous liberties. A number of frills can be indulged in while making a baby pillow. The purpose of the baby pillow is to comfort and not to secure the baby in the crib. Therefore, you can shed all concerns and get creative while personalizing the baby pillow.

The latest and most popular way to accessorize and personalize a baby pillow is by getting the photo of the baby printed on it. This service is provided by various online sites. It is an extremely original idea that you can toy with on a baby pillow. A baby pillow does not have to be the end of your creativity; a matching blanket is sure to be appreciated as well. Family pictures and photos of the pregnant mom for unborn babies are ideal substitutes. Alternatively, if you have a steady hand and would like to paint on the baby pillow instead, stencils are available in plenty. All you have to do is choose a stencil of choice or make one of your own and paint the baby pillow. One should however take adequate care to check that the paints being used are fabric paints and that they are non allergic as the baby pillow is meant for a baby.

If a steady hand is not what you possess but embroidery is your forte, that is a good option as well. The internet is literally a dump for awesome patterns for embroidery. Sift through the dump of patterns and select one that would suit your tastes. A better idea would be to personalize the baby pillow further by choosing a pattern that includes the birth date of the baby or even something that goes along with the theme of the nursery. This needs some prior planning and wheedling of information from the mother of the baby.

Baby products as gifts and commercially available blankets and pillows are what everyone would give. The personalized gifts are the ones that are going to be most treasured by the family and might even be turned into family heirlooms. The gift holds a special place when it is custom made; more so if it has been made by you specially for the baby. A personalized baby pillow is an ideal gift.
