

Make A Birth Announcement!

Make a Birth Announcement for your newest addition to your family. Don't worry , if you haven't made a Birth Announcement in the past for your other children or if this is your first child. Making a Birth Announcement is easy and you will be ecstatic you that did. Maybe when your kids grow up and one of them notices there is a clipping from the newspaper with the Announcement of one kids birth and not of theirs and they may be jealous. They will get over it, kids always do. Or you could lie to them ad say that there wasn't the option to do a Birth announcement when they were born but there was for their brother or sister. It depends o if you want to lie to your children or not. So you want to tell your community about your newest or first bundle of joy. The thing to do is make an official announcement so that everyone you know or at least everyone you know that reads the paper will be aware of your new baby and its name and all that good stuff that goes along with it. You will want to call the paper and tell them word for word what you would like in your Birth Announcement. For example you could say" thank God for our newest blessing Jessica Shea Oogerbum who weighed in at seven pounds three ounces. She is a major blessing in a tiny body and we are thankful for the miracle she has brought our family and community!" . That is an example of a announcement for your kid entering the world. When the paper runs, you will be able to cut out the article and mount it in your scrap book. Like mentioned before ,if its in a the scrap book and one of the kids who didn't have an announcement for their birth finds it, you better have a good excuse why you didn't get them one too. Bottom line is your new baby had one and the community will rejoice. Make a Birth Announcement for your new baby.

About the Author

Find more info about baby announcements, stop by babysphere.com.

Source: <http://greatreads4.com>